Radisson Blu Lithuania (former Reval)

Governing the Global Corporation

In the wake of the financial crisis corporations are rising above country borders in the pursuit of reestablishing growth. There is strong attention on markets with competitive pricing – one of the emerging advantages of the Baltic countries. With what set of standards shall a foreign market penetrating corporation be governed – and how can hosting nation's best benefit from strengthening ties with international corporations?

On Friday, March 18, The Baltic's dedicates a day to mark the new importance of governing with global vision, when Baltic Institute of Corporate Governance presents top level international experts to challenge your global outlook.

Each expert will present a 20 minute speech before performing an interactive discussion on stage with the conference moderator, Christian Engelsen of Institute for Corporate Governance in Denmark.
